Now, more than ever, organisations need to optimise their procurement and supply chain functions.

What does CIPS Procurement Consultancy Services offer?

It's a bespoke service, completely tailored to the needs of your organisation. We offer a suite of products and services that will enable you to meet today's challenges head on; to achieve your organisational goals, and provide ongoing, continuous improvement delivered by a team of highly skilled, fully qualified experts.

CIPS will support your organisation's key procurement challenges, with options including:

- Strategy and policy review
- Processes, tools, and systems optimisation
- Organisation redesign for better performance
- Assessment and accreditation
- Operational support, on a permanent or interim basis
- Digital procurement strategies
- Development of frameworks and measures to improve transparency and efficiency

CIPS Procurement Consultancy Services provides access to senior assessors who are skilled professionals.

Dedicated to your success throughout the entire transformation journey to Global Procurement Excellence. With world-class credentials, a minimum of 10 to 15 years' experience at senior levels in global organisations across public and private sectors; and MCIPS/FCIPS accreditation, ensuring high-level analytical and strategic capability.

CIPS provides:

● A full range of services

Select the services that will drive your improvement – from diagnostics and organisational design to implementation, benchmarking, and everything in between.

● Ongoing upskilling of your team

Our support doesn't end once the immediate issues are resolved. We design and deliver tailored training that equips your team with the skills and knowledge needed to sustain improvements and keep your operation performing at its best, long after our work is complete.

CIPS enables you to take your performance to another level. There is also the potential to achieve a globally recognised CIPS Procurement Excellence Programme Award, providing a way to consolidate your work, benchmark against world-class standards and get recognition for the progress you have made.

How does the process work?

Stage 1 Diagnostic review

A targeted analysis of your entire procurement function, or of a specific area, using a proven CIPS framework that covers five dimensions:

- leadership and organisation
- strategy and policy
- people
- processes and systems
- performance management

Stage 2 Process improvement

Based on the results of your diagnostic review, we can work with you to design or improve strategies, policies, processes and procedures in areas such as strategic sourcing, category management, contract management, and supplier relationship management.

Stage 3 Organisational design

Based on the results of your diagnostic review, we can work with you to develop your organisation, supported by process mapping, competency frameworks, assessments and skills training as required. In addition, CIPS can assist in designing or managing a programme of transformation.
