Raising awareness

CIPS Modern Slavery Awareness Training

Make sure your business is compliant with modern slavery legislation

The Global Slavery Index estimates there are more than 40 million victims of modern slavery around the world today, many working in the supply chains of western corporations. From every perspective – reputational, financial and ethical – this is not acceptable. New laws have been enacted to try and tackle the problem, and the regulatory and reputational risks for organisations are more pronounced than ever. Join this interactive course to understand how to spot the signs of slavery and what to do if you suspect that slavery may be occurring within your supply chain.

Demonstrate responsible sourcing

Delivered by experts

Cost-effective option for teams

cips.org/modern-slavery-training

CIPS

What is CIPS Modern Slavery Awareness Training?

This two-day course has been designed for anyone who has a need to understand and/or manage supply chains of any size and wants to make a real difference in our modern world. This course is suitable for all levels of procurement and supply management professionals.

Why CIPS?
All CIPS training is delivered by experienced procurement professionals and sector-specific experts. Our programmes help you to deliver real strategic and sustainable value to your organisation.

This is available as an open course at various locations and can also be delivered in-house, with content tailored to your organisation's specific needs. For in-company courses, we agree objectives with you in advance and formulate a programme of study that is specifically designed to achieve your desired outcomes.

Need more help?
To book on an open course, visit cips.org/training or for in-company courses, contact corporate.solutions@cips.org.

For help to examine your supply chain for possible labour rights violations, contact us about our Modern Slavery in the Supply Chain Programme at corporate.solutions@cips.org or visit cips.org/source-responsibly.

* 97% satisfaction from people attending CIPS open training courses in 2018.

What will I learn?

By the end of this course you will be able to:

- Understand the importance of recognising slavery within your supply chain

- Recognise the different types of slavery and the signs that slavery may be present

- Map your supply chain and explore ways of creating transparency

- Carry out an impact assessment across your supply chain

- Use tools and techniques to help prevent slavery

- Manage stakeholders including building rapport and relationships

- Understand relevant contractual clauses

- Effectively manage exit strategies and contract terminations

- Manage communications and Public Relations challenges.

97%
satisfaction*

Two days of training contributes 14 hours to your Continuing Professional Development (CPD).